

FROM THE COMMISSIONER OF THE IRS

FEBRUARY 2010

IRS Commissioner Douglas Shulman does not file his own taxes in part because he believes the tax code is complex.

During an interview on C-SPAN's "Newsmakers" program, Shulman said he uses a tax preparer for his own returns.

"I've used one for years. I find it convenient. I find the tax code complex so I use a preparer," Shulman said.

Take the tax code and shoot it into the sun. The head of the IRS cannot even understand it and we are expected to?
